POLLARD BAILEY ANNOUNCE NEW PARTNERSHIP IN LOS ANGELES
LITIGATION FIRM

LOS ANGELES, Calif., (May 6, 2010) – Attorneys Dylan F. Pollard, formerly of Los Angeles based Khorrami Pollard Abir LLP, and Matt C. Bailey, former Khorrami Pollard senior associate and class action practice group co-chair, are pleased to announce the launch of Pollard|Bailey, a boutique civil litigation practice in Beverly Hills. Pollard|Bailey will provide representation in plaintiff-side complex civil litigation, with a focus on catastrophic personal injury and class action cases.

“The move just made sense” said Pollard, who has worked jointly with Bailey on countless cases for almost 10 years. “We both have very strong litigation skills, but in opposing areas, which together makes for a very solid litigation team.”

Matt C. Bailey has dedicated his career to complex litigation, prosecuting class action cases throughout the country on a wide variety of legal issues, including consumer fraud, wage and hour, and product liability. Matt is a frequent commentator on cutting edge class action issues, with recent articles published in California Lawyer and the Los Angeles Daily Journal, and is the author of the Bailey Class Action Daily (www.BaileyDaily.com), a legal blog focusing on current developments in class action law. He may be reached at [mbailey@pollardbailey.com](mailto:m Bailey@pollardbailey.com).

Dylan F. Pollard has dedicated his career to representing victims of catastrophic injuries, mass tort and wrongful death, including injuries caused by pharmaceutical and consumer products, vehicle accidents, unsafe conditions on public and private property, as well as high stakes civil rights actions involving the use of lethal force and abuse of power. He may be reached at dpollard@pollardbailey.com.
